

November 11, 2005. Hearty volunteers brave the blustery wind and cold to build fence cross bucks for next springs fencing project. We worked until we ran out of bolts and then did some clean up around the staging area to pick up old bailing straps and straighten up the wood piles. It was a great group and we appreciate all of the support. We ended up with about 10-12 volunteers. I didn't get an accurate count. If you recognize yourself or someone else in these pictures that is not identified click the email box and let me know who is who. I don't have all the names of the participants yet. tl

Photographs courtesy of Richard Scully, IDF&G

Dave Burgoon makes yet another round trip for more materials.

Dave Johnson's fallen and can't get up.

Greg Mladenka came up to enjoy the abuse with us. Bud has his best side to the camera.

Even some of our local TU talent came down from Idaho Falls, Matt Woodard and Chris Hunt lending a hand.

Greg gives Matt some pointers on the fine art of huffing cross bucks.

Dave Whitworth surveys the progress.

Supervisor keeps an eye and tail on the activities.
I think Scully's dog is actually keeping an eye on Whitworth, to make sure he keeps working.

Big tool, More Power, OH!OH!OH! Your's truely on one of the drills.

Skipp Rudd is getting fancy with the wrench.

Some of the fencing that was installed in the spring of 2005

View from upstream looking towards Cronies place.