

You cheat on a test. (You tell the teacher that you cheated on the test and that you are sorry.)	You purposely do not return a DVD to your friend. (You apologize to your friend and return the DVD.)
You tore up someone's homework. (You apologize to the person and tell the teacher what you did and try to make amends.)	You are a public official and you accept a bribe from someone. (You return the money back to the person and tell them you do not want it.)
You did not pay your babysitter the wage you agreed upon. (You apologize to the babysitter and pay her the correct amount.)	You refuse to pay a loan to a friend. (You apologize to the friend and repay them immediately.)
You borrow your mom's car and return it all dirty. (You apologize to your mom and wash her car and vacuum it.)	You break the window in the new house on purpose. (You tell the owner you are sorry and pay for the damages.)
You find something that is not yours. (You try to find out who the owner is and return it.)	You write on someone's school book. (You apologize and pay for the book.)

You accept a gift that you know was stolen. (You take it back to the person and tell them that you cannot accept it because it was stolen.)	You bought something that was stolen. (You return it and get your money back.)
Someone at school has a calculator you like so you take it. (You apologize and return it to the owner.)	You just got your ice cream from the ice-cream man, but he was so busy that he forgot to take your money so you walk away not paying. (You go back and apologize and pay for your ice cream.)
You borrow your brother's bike and run into things on purpose and ruin his bike. (You apologize and pay for the damages to his bike.)	You take some money out of your sister's wallet without permission. (You apologize and repay her all the money you took.)
You agree to mow your neighbor's yard each week for the month and he pays you in advance. You don't mow his yard this week because you do not feel like it and the grass gets very long. (You apologize to your neighbor, return the money for when you did not mow the yard, and ask him how you can make it up to him.)	Your sister wants to borrow money from you. You loan her the money but charge her a ridiculous amount of interest. (You apologize, charge her a reasonable amount of interest and deduct the excessive amount of interest that she has already paid to you from her loan.)
You do not like someone so you take their binder and hide it. (You apologize and return the binder.)	You borrow someone's lawnmower and it breaks down. (You should pay to have it fixed before returning it.)