

Your life dream is to reach the top of Mount Everest. Just as you are on the last leg of the journey you see a man dying in the snow, as his guides have left him for dead. Do you stop to help him thereby giving up your dream, even though he may die anyway?	You work for a corporation that is publicly traded. You know that your numbers are being announced in two weeks and that your stock prices will drop dramatically. Your in-laws have invested two thirds of their retirement money in your corporation but tipping them is illegal. Do you tell them?
A nice couple is looking to adopt but cannot afford all the paperwork. You run the orphanage and a kid has fallen in love with couple. Would you waive the fees for the paper work even though the orphanage suffers from the lost revenue?	While staying at a very posh hotel, you accidentally crack a lamp in your room. Do you inform the management?
A friend confides in you they committed a crime. You promised to tell no one. Now an innocent person is facing prosecution for that crime. Do you keep your promise or come forth?	What's the difference between cheating on a math test and lying about your age in order to save money on a movie ticket?
Julia's best friend has turned against her and is now organizing the other girls to bully and isolate her. What can Julia do?	Corey is drunk and stuck at a party thirty miles from home with nobody sober to drive him. He's not happy about any of his options. What should he do?
Lea has been offered something she really wants. Unfortunately, it's terribly unfair to a lot of other people and she knows it. Should she allow herself to benefit from an unfair situation?	Stephanie was supposed to tell a certain guy that her good friend had a crush on him. Instead, Stephanie ended up hooking up with the guy herself. And to make matters worse, she lied to her friend about it. Now things are spinning out of control. What's she supposed to do?

A stressed out honor student has plagiarized a term paper and been turned over to the school's honor council. She is pleading with the council not to report her violation to the Ivy League university she is applying to. What should the council do?	A high school sophomore faces a family crisis when his alcoholic Mom relapses into drinking. What could you do?
An eighth grade girl starts receiving threatening notes in her locker and her backpack. What should she do?	A fifth grade boy is overcome with hurt and anger when a classmate spreads a lie about him. What should he do?
Maria is sure that her good friend, Pam has an eating disorder. Pam's parents are in denial, and nobody but Maria and a few friends seem concerned. What should Maria do?	You are stumped on an important math test and you have the perfect opportunity to cheat without getting caught. What do you do and how do you explain your decision?
The star student makes a bad choice involving alcohol. Now she has to decide what to do about it without ruining her reputation or compromising her ethical principals.	Three of David's classmates have created an offensive website that attacks students and teachers. The principal wants to know who did it and David is the only one who knows. Should he lie to the principal or betray his classmates?
When Jay asks his mother how she would react if he tried drugs, he gets a stern warning. Then he discovers that she's been smoking pot. What is he supposed to do with that?	Kevin feels that his baseball coach has given him an unfair advantage over other members of the team. Should he do something about it, or just accept his good luck?

What do you do when your friend's Dad comes to drive you home from a party, and you can tell that he's drunk?	Alan is facing a thorny, but common, ethical dilemma: should he lie to his parents in order to receive a reward he's not entitled to, or tell them the truth and give up the reward?
Bethany has confided in Stacy that an adult neighbor has been touching her in ways that make her uncomfortable. Should Stacy keep Bethany's secret or risk their friendship by telling an adult?	Peter's longtime close friend, Bridget is wrapped up in an online relationship with some older guy on MySpace, a social networking website. Peter senses danger, but Bridget resents his warnings and wants him to butt out. What can he do without risking their friendship?
Andrew is caught in a conflict between trying to please his overbearing father and doing what is best for himself. What should he do?	The incoming school president was caught breaking the school rules about alcohol. Should he be permitted to take office or should the student body hold a new election?
Katy cringes every time she hears her friends use words like "retarded" or "gay" in a derogatory manner. Should she object when it happens, or should she let it pass so people won't think she's weird?	Someone left money sticking out of an ATM machine and there's nobody in sight. Nobody but Ben, that is. If he takes it, does that make him a thief? What should he do?
Erin's chemistry teacher made a huge mistake on Erin's final grade. A mistake that was very much in Erin's favor. Should Erin point out the mistake to her teacher, or accept her good fortune quietly and gratefully?	Jeff's best friend is getting into some pretty risky behaviors, including dangerous drugs. What can Jeff do to help his friend?

Jennifer knows her parents won't let her go to "the big party" if they find out the host's parents are out of town. Should she lie about it?	You give your boyfriend/girlfriend an expensive gift, but one month later you break up. Do you ask for it back?
Your friends come over to watch TV. After they have gone you find $10 sitting on the sofa. Do you return it to whoever left it behind?	Your sister is engaged to a man you do not like. Worse than that, you think he is trouble. Do you try to persuade her to not marry him?
You check your bank account and instead of seeing the expected $10, the cash machine tells you that $100 is in there. Do you withdraw the extra money?	You buy some jeans that cost $30, but when you go to pay for them the cash register says the amount is $20. Do you tell the sales person?
Someone that you really don't like invited you to go to an expensive restaurant that you really want to go to. Do you accept the invitation?	Your best friend asks to borrow $100 for a year. Do you charge them interest?
One of your best friends tells you something personal that you must keep a secret. It turns out to be really juicy gossip. Do you tell anyone?	You know that you drunk more than the legal limit, but you think you are okay to drive. Do you take the risk?

The cashier at the store gave you too much change back for your purchase. Do you tell him?	Your ex boyfriend/girlfriend sends you an expensive present. You now have a new boyfriend/girlfriend. Do you except the present?
Your boyfriend/girlfriend is developing a good friendship with a very attractive person of the opposite sex, but says they are just friends. Do you ask him/her to stop seeing this person?	You discover a code that allows you to make FREE phone calls to any where in the world. Do you use it?
You accidentally come across your boyfriend's/girlfriend's personal diary. Do you read it?	You are in a parking lot and accidentally back into another parked car. Do you leave a note taking responsibility?
Your friend has a new hair style that makes them look ridiculous. Do you risk offending your friend by telling him/her this?	A friend gave you a birthday present that you do not like. Should you give that same gift to another friend for his/her birthday?
Your friend has a terminal debilitating disease that is slowly turning him into a vegetable and wants you to help him to commit suicide. What do you do?	Your friend wants to use you as a reference so he/she can volunteer as a Big Brother/Big Sister. You think your friend is not a good candidate. What do you do?