FROM THE LIBRARIAN

A Week in Review

Kindergarten and First graders practiced finding books in the library using the book's spine label. Librarians are like mailmen. Mailmen get letters from house to house and librarians get books from kid to kid. We enjoyed the Jolly Postman and read many letters addressed to characters like Cinderella.

Second and Third graders cooked a book by adding story elements to a big pot and stirring them together. Main characters, plot, setting, character traits, and point of view made up the ingredients of our story, Pumpkin Soup.

Fourth and Fifth graders continued their unit on genres by discovering Science Fiction and Mystery books.

Also, a big "Congratulations" goes out to Malik Washington this week for answering one of our "Fall into Nutrition" fruit trivia questions, "How do you tell the difference between a fruit and a vegetable?" Check out our board in the third grade hall for the answer.
