While doing some mold remediation work in a rundown old home to make ends meet, Gabby St. Claire inadvertently uncovers Elvis's remains—well, the remains of an unfortunate Elvis impersonator—complete with his blue suede shoes. Elvis turns out to be the late Darnell Evans, and his wife begs for Gabby's help in solving the murder. Despite being all shook up, Gabby can't help but get involved.

In the meantime, her personal life takes on some twists and turns of its own. Her crime-scene cleaning rival, Chad Davis, is sending very clear “Love Me Tender” signals in Gabby's direction. This could not have happened at a worse time, as her would-be relationship with Parker is causing her to shake, rattle, and roll, and forcing her to realign her priorities.

But she won't be able to solve anything if the faux Elvis's killer catches up with her!

This is the first book I've read from Christy Barritt and once I began reading I could not put this book down. Also my family kept wondering what was wrong with me because I was laughing my head off while reading this mystery novel. Yes I never knew a mystery could be so funny. I became enthralled with the characters and storyline; Gabby St. Clair with her wise cracking personality (Elvis has not left the building), Gabby's crazy neighbors (I look differently at my neighbors now), Gabby's boyfriend (which one is it she loves?), the quirky suspects (are they for real?), Chad Davis (Is he the competition or the enemy?), Elvis (who really killed him?), and what will Gabby do about the most important decision of her life? ~ read the book and find out!
